Allegro Clarinet

This fine quality clarinet is typical of all the Allegro instruments, employing both professional grade features and superior value. The design boasts vertically integrated features from the custom line of clarinets such as a bell resonance chamber and a natural oil-stained finish for enhanced resonance. An adjustable thumb rest, gold-plated key posts, and a French-style case all lend beauty and function to this superbly crafted instrument.

Allegro Flutes

300 Series

This beautiful open-hole instrument includes a gold-plated lip plate, sterling silver headjoint, and split E mechanism - a feature previously reserved for Yamaha's professional flutes. It significantly eases the jump from A to E in the second and third octaves. The 300 series flutes include a French-style case and cover.

400 Series

An open-hole style flute, this Allegro model offers a sterling silver body and footjoint and standard split E mechanism. It shares many of its design features with the Allegro 300 series and other professional caliber flutes. The 400 series flute features a French-style case and cover.

Allegro Alto Saxophone

Discerning eyes and ears will immediately identify this horn as a cut above other intermediate level instruments. A high quality G1 neck with thicker bracing, stronger octave key guide, professional caliber waterproof pads, gold lacquer finish and a hard shell case all add both durability and finesse.

Allegro Tenor Saxophone

Allegro Trumpet

This marvelous trumpet incorporates weighted tubing with a professional grade body. The mouthpiece is heavier with a gold-plated rim and cup similar to those included with Yamaha professional trumpets. From concert to jazz bands, this trumpet can take students as far as they wish to go.

Allegro Trombone

This instrument's major improvement over the average intermediate trombone comes in the construction of its bell. Made of sheet brass and hand formed, the Allegro trombone's bell produces a markedly improved resonance. The addition of the open-wrap F-attachment section and a mechanical linkage make the Allegro trombone perfect for all levels of players.
