

Analyst and Investor Briefing on First Quarter of FY2026.3

(Fiscal year ending March 31, 2026)

August 1, 2025

Yamaha Corporation

FY2026.3 1Q Highlights

Overview

Achievements of first quarter of FY2026.3 (three months)

- Revenue decreased due to the slowdown in sales of audio equipment, which was in line with our projections, and the slow recovery of musical instruments, particularly pianos, as well as the appreciation of the yen.
- Despite efforts to control SG&A expenses, core operating profit decreased due to the appreciation of the yen, the impact of additional tariffs imposed by the United States, and a deterioration in the product mix due to a decline in sales of audio equipment for professional use.

Outlook

Full Year Forecasts for FY2026.3

- Revised earnings forecasts downward to reflect the impact of additional U.S. tariffs currently estimated and countermeasures
- Continue to take all possible measures to mitigate the impact of tariffs

2. Segment Overview & Updates

Segment Revenue and Core Operating Profit

Three Months: Revenue decreased due to sluggish piano sales despite continued growth in guitar sales; downward trend in China has halted

- Piano sales declined significantly due to weak demand in China and other regions, while digital piano sales continued to recover, but growth in North America was lackluster due to the impact of tariffs, resulting in digital musical instrument revenue remaining flat year on year. Sales of winds, strings and percussion instruments saw increased sales driven by demand from the start of the new school year in Japan. Guitar sales increased, with both acoustic and electric guitars performing well.

Full Year Projections: Although the outlook for North America has been revised downward, sales are expected to increase due to recovery in regions other than China.

- Piano sales are expected to decrease due to weak demand in the U.S. and China, but digital musical instruments are expected to increase due to recovery in Europe and other regions. Winds, strings and percussion, and guitars are expected to remain strong and sales are projected to increase.

Three Months: Revenue growth in audio equipment for professional use and mobility use has leveled off

- In audio equipment for consumer use, the home audio business scaled down.
- Sales of audio equipment for professional use exceeded the plan, but fell short of the strong results achieved in the previous year, mainly in Europe.
- Sales of audio equipment for mobility use declined as previously expected in China.

Full Year Projections: Revenue from audio equipment for professional use is expected to level off, and revenue is expected to decrease temporarily due to a decline in sales of automotive sound systems in China.
